

National Account Executives Named to LinkEx Team

JOHNS CREEK, Ga. - June 6, 2019 - LinkEx, a Saia, Inc. subsidiary, is pleased to announce that Christine Persad and Wil Serrano have both been named national account executives. In this role, each will be responsible for securing new national accounts as well as working closely with existing customers to effectively manage their supply chains by promoting the benefits of being part of the Saia-LinkEx family.

Persad has worked in transportation and logistics for the past three years. Prior to her current role, she served as a senior account executive at Saia where she was named a 2017 President's Club winner. She holds a master's degree in healthcare administration.

"I am extremely excited to have Christine as a national account executive," explained LinkEx Vice President and General Manager David Miller. "She is a President's Club winner with a proven track record of success. Her passion and tenacity will not only be instrumental in our growth with Saia, but with external national accounts."

Persad and her husband have been married for 17 years and have three children. She enjoys reading, traveling with her family, watching her son's football games, and her youngest cheer and play softball.

Serrano joins the LinkEx team with the goal of growing the third-party logistics (3PL) provider's footprint in the Northeast. With 20 years of combined experience in transportation and logistics, he has considerable cross-functional expertise in the 3PL and supply chain management space. He previously worked at one of the largest 3PL providers.

Serrano and his wife have been married over 18 years. Together, they have three daughters. They are active in their church and community and enjoy family nights at home and fun weekend excursions to new locations.

"We are thrilled to have Wil become part of the LinkEx team," explained Miller. "Like Christine, he has tremendous drive, along with great experience. He'll play an integral part in helping us grow the LinkEx business in the Northeast."
